Required Documents for Review Hearings

When you come in for your first Assessment Review Hearing, you must bring an assessment from your treatment provider. An assessment is a document prepared by your treatment provider that discusses their recommendations for your treatment and the progress you have made on your court-ordered treatments. NOTE: If you fail to bring your assessment on the date of your review hearing, you will violate the terms of your probation and will be sanctioned.

How Can I Submit an Assessment?

There are two possible ways you can submit an assessment to the court:

1. You can either bring the assessment to court by hand, OR
2. Your treatment provider can submit the assessment directly to the Springville Court before the hearing date.

The judge reviews the assessment BEFORE your hearing, so providing it at least 24 hours before the hearing is preferred and sometimes ordered by the court.

NOTE: If your treatment provider tells you they will submit the assessment directly to the court, you still have the responsibility to contact the court and double-check that your provider submitted the assessment before your hearing date. You may contact the court or submit an assessment at any time during regular business hours, Monday through Friday 8:00am-5:00pm using the information below:
